DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Love (5,980,880).

Love disclose an aromatic compound having therapeutic benefits comprising 12 to 30% by volume of Epsom salt; 0.1 to 5% of an essential oil such as lavender; and 0 to 5% by volume of a carrier oil to provide moisture such as corn oil, olive oil or sesame oil (col. 2, lines 3-55 and col. 3, lines 1-3). Love teaches that the user manipulates the product into the skin of the hands (col. 4, lines 1-3). Note, see tables 1-3 and claims.

As this reference teaches all of the instantly required it is considered anticipatory.

3. Claims 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Malmgren et al (2003/0039625).

Malmgren et al disclose a skin cleanser and conditioner comprising Epsom salt and optionally essential oils (0029), wherein Malmgren teaches that a tablespoon of vegetable glycerin; a cup of aloe vera gel; a teaspoon of vitamin E; and a tablespoon of soap and castor oil are admixed (0027). Malmgren further suggest that there is not time limit on how long the conditioner can be left on the skin (0032) and that the skin conditioner can be applied from head to toe of the body (0032).

As this reference teaches all of the instantly required it is considered anticipatory.
